HOLDS EDUCATION SAFEGUARD OF U. S.

Pledge for Conscientious Citizens Proposed at Women's Convention.

[By Associated Press.]
Baltimore.—The education of citizens is the safeguard of a republic, said Mrs. Anna Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters, in her opening address at the annual convention of the league here Tuesday.
Mrs. Park proposed a pledge for all "conscientious citizens," drawn up as follows:
"Believing in government by the people, for the people, I will do my best.
"To inform myself about public questions, the principles and policies of political parties and the qualifications of candidates for public office.
"To vote according to my conscience in every election, primary or final, at which I am entitled to vote.
"To obey the law even when I am not in sympathy with all its provisions.
"To support by all fair means the policies that I approve of.
"To respect the right of others to uphold convictions that may differ from my own.
"To regard my citizenship as a public trust."
"This is a simple pledge," said Mrs. Park, "but if it were taken and kept by a majority of the voters of the country, we should be much nearer the kingdom of heaven upon earth than we find ourselves today."

ROCK COUNTY HANDS DANE INFORMATION ON COUNTY AGENT

Dane county is given an example of what a county agent can do for the farmers in a letter of George W. Hull, president of the Rock county farm bureau, to Eugene F. Dietz, secretary of the Dane County Farmers' association organization committee.
Hull often wondered how Dane county, one of the best counties in the state for agricultural development, could get by without a county agent.
The letter says in part:
"Last year the county agent pushed the limestone proposition. Through our farm bureau we purchased four limestone crushers and operated them. We cannot extend last year's supply the demand and some are shipping it near the station.
"This year the county agent, Mr. R. T. Glasco, is pushing the pruning and spraying of fruit trees. He has already formed 12 spray rings of 12 farmers each. Each ring employs a man to attend to the spraying.
"Through our farm bureau and our county agent system we are working out a program in every township. We are creating interest and enthusiasm and causing each individual farmer to realize his responsibility to exert individual effort and promote a better agriculture, socially, educationally and economically."

ARREST SUSPECT IN ROBBERY OF ROCKFORD HOTEL

[Special to the Gazette]
Rockford.—Albert Erickson, proprietor of the Skandia hotel, was bound and gagged by two bandits who staged a daylight robbery of his place. They rifled the cash drawer of $50 in currency and a check for $40. On the description given by Erickson, police arrested George Stark and are looking for his pal.

88 YEARS YOUNG, AZRO CLARK STILL FOLLOWS HORSES

Whenever any event of greater than ordinary attraction happens in Jansville, an elderly walking man of 88 is on hand. He is Azro B. Clark of Mount Zion who lives on a small farm alone and works it.
Mr. Clark was formerly one of the best known trainers and drivers of harness horses in this section. He started in that game in 1883 and for 15 years he handled from 10 to 20 horses a season at the fair grounds here.
He was born June 8, 1834, at Chautauque, N. Y., coming to this city April 7, 1854. Until he took up harness racing, he followed farming as an occupation.
"I'll stay at the Jansville fair on the first day this summer and I'll be there when it closes on the last day," he says.
Mr. Clark is a remarkable type of vitality. He has the walk of a soldier. He has never worn glasses and is a constant reader. He was on hand at the Easter egg hunt of the Kiwanis club.

GENOA CONFERENCE AGAIN IS FACING PERIL OF SMASHUP

pressed by the French cabinet before parliament can triumph.
These French practical demands include maintenance of the war reparations claims, disarmament, all disarmament discussion and no changing of existing treaties at Genoa. In addition France insists on rigid adherence to the Cannes resolutions which call for the payment of Russia's pre-war debts and the restitution by the soviet of foreigners' property in Russia.
Experts End Conference.
The conference of experts on the Russian question broke up Monday and adjourned sine die because the experts representing the powers found the Russians new set of proposals absolutely in contradiction to the soviet note accepting the allies' terms as a basis for future deliberations.
Monday the bolsheviks announced their declaration to restore private property because everything was nationalized in Russia, but in their note of acceptance they voiced willingness to restore soviet property or indemnify the owners provided the country's war debts to the allies were cut down and financial help for Russia forthcoming.
Instead of accepting the allies' demands for the payment of war debts, with the understanding that these debts be scaled down and arrears in interest either postponed or reduced in part, the bolsheviks had an entirely different proposition.

Ask War Debt Annulment.
They asked the complete annulment of all war debts whenever the interests of the financial obligations due to foreign nations, which are usually referred to as the pre-war debts, and the cancellation of the interest according to the allied version of the meeting. This cancellation was to apply both to the past and to the period of the moratorium.
Finally, the Russians made clear that in refusing to restore private property in Russia, this would not imply any surrender by Russian citizens of their rights to hold property in fee simple in foreign lands, "bourgeois countries," where the right to possess property went with the bourgeois system.
Such, said the bolsheviks, were their terms, but they could only grant them on condition that the powers represented at Genoa would first agree to recognize the soviet government and accord it adequate financial help for its proper economic reconstruction.
Discussion Is Useless.
Under these conditions, said Sir Lamont Worthington-Evans, chairman of the meeting, "we cannot discuss any further. We must refer this matter to our respective governments." It was then decided to adjourn the sittings sine die. All the experts except the Russians arranged to meet Tuesday and go over the entire situation.
The Russians contend that their general attitude toward the soviet treaty with the powers has been misinterpreted and one of the delegates charged that faulty translations had been made of their counter suggestions last week.
Despite the serious outlook, the heads of the various delegations, however, frankly informed the assembled press Monday night that they saw no possibility of making an arrangement with the soviet unless the latter radically modified their program.

"Hold U. S. Responsible."
What the bolsheviks have given up their counter claims for damage charged to foreign interventions in Russia, the story went, the rounds of the delegation Monday night that they will hold the United States morally responsible for the presence of the Japanese troops in Siberia, since the Japanese occupied the territory not only in concert with American troops, but actually at the request of the American government.
"In that case," said one of the Japanese jokingly, "the bolsheviks hand us a bill we will have to pass it on to the United States government."

BEAUTIFUL HANDS THING OF PAST IN BOLSHEVIST RUSSIA

Odessa.—Beautiful hands are a thing of the past in Russia. The hands of handsome women are hard and horny, almost as those of field laborers. They have neither hot water nor soap in which to wash them, nor salves and cold creams to protect them.
Constant household labor in their single rooms, making fires for cooking, carrying water, chopping wood and many other primitive duties have hastened the effect of cold and dirt.
The hands of men and women of the theater, opera, pianists and instrument players, are in the same condition.
Mal-nutrition is another cause. Lack of milk and fats has wrought havoc with tender skins. Many women's cheeks are mottled like the skin of a fish. The same cause has hastened the decay of their teeth.

POLES ASK POPE FOR NEW CARDINAL

Warsaw.—Polish Catholics, in those districts of Upper Silesia, recently returned to Poland by the League of Nations, have appealed to Pope Pius XI for separation from the authority of Cardinal Bertram, the German Archbishop of Breslau, under whose ecclesiastical rule they still remain, despite the new political divisions of the country.
The appeal is the second one made to the Vatican, the first having been held up by the illness and death of Pope Benedict. It is an echo of the Silesian plebiscite troubles of 1921, when Cardinal Bertram issued an anti-Polish pastoral letter.
Monsignor Ratti, then papal nuncio to Poland but now pope, declared then that the letter was published without his knowledge. The Silesian Poles are hopeful of favorable decision on account of Pope Pius' long and personal knowledge of the situation.

MAN, INJURED IN RUNAWAY, BETTER

Fisher Improves Although Condition Is Still Held Serious.

Joseph Fisher, State street, injured Monday afternoon in an accident on Center avenue, regained consciousness Tuesday morning at Mercy hospital, but is still in a serious condition. It was thought at first that the skull had been fractured, but an X-ray showed that the only bones broken were some in the shoulder. Face and body cuts are bad, however. The accident occurred while Mr. Fisher was returning to his home on the street, school for the blind, with a cow, which he had purchased, and which he was to have at a sale at the fair grounds Tuesday. There were no eye-witnesses, but it is thought the box was tipped over by a pile of the concrete street, just south of Monterey bridge and the cow fell on him.

BELOIT MAN SHOTS WIFE, KILLS SELF

About the bed and around the room. Then he went out and walked about the house. He wasn't quarreling with mother.

"About 2 o'clock he came back from his room, angry and shouting with me. He had quite a growth of beard and I asked him why he hadn't shaved—you know, kind of kidding him. He said nobody cared whether he shaved or not. He left his room and came into the living room. The next thing I heard was the shooting—there were three reports. It was about 8 o'clock. I thought it was a fire blowing up or something."

Held Mother's Head.
Going into his parents' room to investigate, the boy came upon the horrible scene of his father lying dead on the floor near his bed. His mother was in the room, holding his right temple. His mother lay in her own bed, a little out in one corner of the room, bleeding profusely from the nose and mouth. A cloth and wiped the blood from his mother's nose so she might breathe more easily. His sister reaching the room, he had held his mother's head while he phoned for the police ambulance.

Barden was pronounced dead by Dr. G. W. Meelas and the body was removed to Mechas's undertaking rooms on the floor below. Mrs. Barden was rushed to the hospital.

The daughter went to the home of friends to be cared for while the heroic little Francis went to the police station, and another companion, a young man, went back to his home for an investigation. No message from Barden was found, but several letters were discovered under his pillow which he had doubtless been reading during the night, and which had worked him into a fit of passion.

Whaley Summons Jury.
Notified of the shooting by Chief Quinlan, Coroner Whaley motored to Beloit shortly after 7:30 Tuesday morning and made an extensive investigation. After hearing the boy's story, the coroner's jury was summoned.

The following were called on the jury: J. B. Graham, Charles J. Kohn, M. Andre, R. P. Collins, Paul Costello and John Love.

The jury met at Mechas's undertaking rooms at 10 a. m., viewed the body of the tragedy and the scene of the shooting and then adjourned to the coroner's court pending change in the condition of Mrs. Barden. Mr. Whaley will conduct the inquest at that time.

At the hospital, it was stated that the child with which Mrs. Barden was sleeping, passed through her head so that one eye was torn from its socket.

Sympathy for Children.
All Beloit is deeply sympathetic for the children.

"Tell mother, if she wakes up, that I will take care of Evelyn," little Francis told the nurses at the hospital, Tuesday morning.

Barden had only recently recovered from a serious illness and it is believed he may still have been suffering some mental distress as a result. He was ill practically all winter with pneumonia, and later, abscess of the lungs and pleurisy. Mrs. Barden worked faithfully in their little restaurant at 122 East Grand avenue during his illness, at the same time nursing him back to health.

Mr. Barden was a member of the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Modern Woodmen.

On Commemoration 5 Years.
Mr. Barden was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and had spent the past 25 years in Beloit, Wis., where for a time he was a foreman at the Fairbanks-Morse plant and later started a restaurant. He had been a member of the police and fire commission there for about eight years. He had served as president at one time.

He was recently appointed a state treasury agent for the Beloit district of Rock county and it was while out in this work that he often carried a revolver.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. Barden and two brothers, William and Roy, all of Milwaukee. Mrs. Barden was Laura Whipple, born in Attica, Wis., and married Mr. Barden in 1903. She has two brothers, Roder and Claude Whipple, both of Evansville; and a sister, Mrs. Sylvia Edwards, Albany.

PULLEN PRESENTS BANK RESIGNATION.
Resignation of Paul P. Pullen as vice president of the Merchants and Savings bank was tendered at the board of directors meeting Tuesday morning. Action was postponed until the meeting next week. Mr. Pullen will leave June 1 to return to Evansville, where he is vice president and a director in the Bank of Evansville.

OLD STRAD VIOLIN SELLS FOR $9,000.
Paris.—A Stradivarius violin, for which the maker, Antonius Stradivarius, received $9 francs when he made it at Cremona in 1735, has just been sold here for $9,000, the equivalent at current rates of exchange to about $5,000.

The violin for a long time was the property of the late Charles Lamoureux, founder and conductor of the famous Lamoureux orchestra.

The recent tests which seemed to establish that modern-made violins have been distinguished from ancient ones by their tone do not seem to have affected the price of ancient instruments, if this sale can be taken as a criterion.

MALARIA STAMPED OUT IN PALESTINE.
Jerusalem.—Malaria has been almost stamped out in Palestine and the cause has been reduced by one-third by the work of the American Zionist medical unit, says Dr. M. Rubinstein, head of that organization. The unit has been at work here for three years, combating these two scourges of Palestine. Dr. Rubinstein added that the unit has expended about $500,000 a year in this work of which about equal shares were contributed by the joint distribution committee and the Women's Organization Hadasah, both of America.

Four hundred thousand persons annually die of the disease, mainly caused by the medical unit here and all nationalities are welcomed. In addition, the unit maintains 275 beds in hospitals in Jerusalem and Jaffa. At present, its main work is the care of Jewish immigrants, conducting campaigns for sanitation among the school children and teaching them how to be healthy and strong. The work of the unit is both sanitary and medical.

BAIL REDUCED AND NICK WILL GET OUT.
Nick Pappas, Beloit Greek, former restaurant proprietor, languishes in the county jail, hoping that he will get $1,000 bail, which will obtain his release. The bail was reduced from $5,000 to $1,000 by Judge Clark at Beloit Monday. Pappas will probably not be prosecuted on any charge growing out of the shooting of John Sack. Several weeks ago Pappas was under the influence of liquor at the time.

Pappas will probably be released under the agreement that he pay Sack's wife $30 a month for three years, a total of $1,080. Sack is paralyzed from the bullet which lodged in his spine.

ROAD BUILDERS IN CAMP NEAR CITY

Marsch Company Ready for Work on Evansville Highway.

With warm weather here—permanently, it is hoped—and the roads in fair shape, the 1922 highway construction program of Rock county got underway Monday when a camp was established near the four mile bridge by John Marsch, Chicago contractor, who has been granted the contract for excavation work on the Highway 16, Janesville-Evansville route.

The excavation crew will work west for three miles and then swing down to Janesville. Paving will be begun in a few days by the crew under the direction of County Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore, who has been waiting on the Marsch camp since the bids were let, April 7.

Marsch has a large force, with 24 graders and 100 men, starting on the job has set aside any doubt that he will do the work. As he was also the low bidder for work in Columbia county, it had been thought that he might give up the job in Rock.

It is expected the Birdsall Construction company will start work on the Beloit-Clinton road soon.

Odd Fellows to Celebrate 103d Birthday

In accordance with the plan of lodges throughout the United States, several hundred members of the two Janesville lodges of Odd Fellows, Wisconsin No. 14 and Janesville City No. 60 will on Wednesday celebrate with special ceremonies the 103rd anniversary of the establishment of the I. O. O. F.

Exercises will be held at the armory at 8 p. m. The decoration of chairs will be conferred upon Department Commander Joseph W. Hobbs, Fox Lake, Wis., by Canton No. 9, Patriots Militant of Janesville. This will be followed by a short musical and literary program. Rev. R. G. Pierson will give the address.

Dancing, with music by Hatch's orchestra will follow. Members of lodges in Walworth and Rock counties are expected to attend.

The Order of Odd Fellows originated in England in the 15th century, and the American Odd Fellowship order was founded by Thomas Wilder, who was initiated into the Odd Fellows in England where he was born. He came to the United States in 1817 and the first lodge was formed at Baltimore in 1819.

5th Oldest Rotarian in Address Here

How the first Rotary club was formed in Chicago in 1905 and details of its growth until now there are 1,500 clubs throughout the world with 80,000 members, was related to the Janesville Rotarians at luncheon at the Grand hotel at noon Tuesday by Charles Newton, Chicago, 31, secretary of the Chicago Rotary club and today is the fifth oldest member of International Rotary.

The local club Tuesday elected seven new directors. They are: James F. Hild, Charles F. Hild, V. E. Richardson, Frank O. Holt, H. S. Lovejoy, Roy E. Wisner and J. R. Jensen. Officers will be elected by these directors before the next meeting of the club.

J. A. Craig, speaking for the farmers, called upon the Rotarians to aid the Chamber of Commerce in raising its promised sale of $30,000 of stock for the fair grounds here. He declared a purchase of stock would be an investment and not a donation.

Visitors were J. H. McComb, Chicago; John Simpson, Madison; L. E. Reeves, Anderson, Ind.; Robert Carle, Rex Jacobs and E. P. Wilcox. The birthday of the Rev. Henry Willmann was observed.

BRYAN DEMANDS THAT PULPIT PREACH DOCTRINE OF CHRIST

What I object to is to change man into a false philosophy and then to undermine the foundation of life. The tendency of evolution is to make atheism. The proof is that Darwin ended as an atheist. He started out believing in Bible, God and Christ. He was brought down to earth by his judiciously by brute standards and closes the higher things to him."

With that he sat upon the injection of evolution into the ministry. Evolution and the Pulpit.

"We find it in our pulpits," he asserted. "Men stand behind the pulpit and say they don't believe in the virgin birth of Christ. Why? Because they think it cannot go with evolution. It is fair to have men of honor among preachers at least equal to that of the ward politician? Is it fair for them to draw their salaries from the people? We find the whole basis of religion being undermined."

With penetrating voice and stamping feet, he filled the auditorium with his message, saying:

"I want men who say they believe in evolution to first come out and write down 'I am descended from an ape'."

Laughter, applause and some "Amens" greeted the theatrical demonstration. He proceeded in this fashion and then:

"We need a God who is real and has authority. . . . You can't save the world with a Christ about whose birth there is some uncertainty. . . . We need the world has to return to Christ because it has found the burden of the devil too great. No evil men sent the world to ruin! It took learned men, now, if we are going to return, to whose voice will it be? To a God conceding to be a man?" (Great applause.)

Read every energy to finish the high school building so it may be ready before the end of 1922. With the completion, the problem of a community center will be solved. Janesville needs and should have simple hotel facilities to care for the public. That will be especially true when the high school is completed and the auditorium is available for musical conventions.

Finish the paving of Janesville streets as far as possible. The city should have a heavy burden on the people.

Give the city a new and now available $10,000 for this purpose and it should not be used for any other. Finish the city and county building for World War soldiers, the living and the dead—to be also an historical building.

IT TAKES A DOLLAR OR MORE ONLY

For more than 60 years the Bower City band has been one of the best musical organizations of the city and ranks high in the state. During the winter it has been reorganized, additions made to its membership, and its concert at the Myers as a finale to the community music program was indicative of what it will do this summer at the concert. But the band cannot be maintained without assistance from the citizens of the community and of all the drives and campaigns for help and sustaining funds, this one will appeal most definitely to the people. We want a good program of concerts this summer. We want the band present at occasions when events demand and there is little money in the special occasion fund to pay. In such times the band, by its individuals, has been ready and willing to give time and service. Now is our time. There have been sent to the people of the city several hundred envelopes with return slips. The mails are carried both ways. That is what the band needs—the envelope going back with the dollar or more therein.

HOOTCH, ORATORY AND ART

Joseph Pennell, the artist, says that "No nation ever produced and maintained art without the freedom of thought such as drink implies." In other words according to Mr. Pennell, one should be well lit up in order to produce something worth while in art. There was a time when it was supposed that a man had to be half tipsy in order to make a great oration or write brilliantly. Poe, Goldsmith, Byron and Burns are cited as men who were geniuses only when saturated with alcohol. Every community remembers the men of the earlier times who were flamboyant on the Fourth of July and always smelled of whiskey. Newspaper men were supposed to be at their best only when they had taken heavy toll at some near by bar.

Mr. Pennell seems to be living in a period of the past. Without waiting for the Volstead act, artists and journalists, orators and statesmen long ago discovered that whiskey and wine might light the fire of genius for a moment but later on the fuel lost its sustaining potency and pauperism, wretchedness and failure were more often written in blazing letters through alcohol than was a great contribution to either art or literature.

One may read the misery and wretchedness of Poe, of the death in drunken stupor in an attic of Stephen Foster the song writer, who gave us Old Kentucky Home and a score of other melodies that will never die; of the opium eater Coleridge who failed to sustain his poetry and wrote only in spasms of exaltation; of many artists who sold pictures for money to buy wine—and thus found Mr. Pennell with the overwhelming evidence against him. These men either drank or indulged in some other excess which Mr. Pennell declares should be the free right of genius.

There was a time when the preacher was permitted to get drunk at weddings and on the New Year. Yet he preached no better sermons. Daniel Webster frequently spoke when under the influence of liquor but no speech made under such circumstances was preserved as typical of his oratorical genius. The mass of evidence is against Mr. Pennell. If he had said that art was too much commercialized and neither men nor women wanted to wait for the flight of years to compensate them, he might have come nearer the truth in his diatribe against all present art and architecture. But if he thinks that the open bar and the flowing bowl is going to restore art and art appreciation he is wandering far from the facts.

Wearing a high hat and eating at a king's banquet is about the last straw for the proletariat who once had some hope of Russia.

You can understand why France feels so deeply about the German reparations when it is known that since the close of the war every man, woman and child in France has contributed $200 in gold for the reconstruction of sections devastated by the Germans and the total paid by Germany to all the allies for reparations is only $10 gold per person. Evidently France is bearing the burden and Germany is appealing for a sympathy to which she is not entitled.

The breath of spring makes one think she has a lot of cold in the lungs.

THE WHITE HOUSE GARDENS

By FREDERICK HASKIN

Washington—Two formal little gardens close to the south porch of the White House are known as the gardens of the president's wife.

The first side of the land is always consulted as to the gardening plans for the entire White House grounds, but those two gardens have been the special care of the wives of presidents ever since Mrs. Roosevelt had them laid out. It is becoming a custom for each president's wife to give full expression to her taste in flowers and landscape gardening in these plots.

The gardens are the most personal to the interests of the White House because the public is not allowed to enter them. The grounds back of the executive mansion are thrown open to the public every Saturday afternoon during the summer, when the Marine band gives a concert. People wander freely about the president's broad lawn and park and sit on the grass under the trees.

On Easter Monday, too, the grounds are open, this time to the children for the annual egg rolling. Forty men are put to work at this time. The grounds are covered with grass, egg shells, papers, marbles, toy rabbits, remnants of lunch and other souvenirs of an exciting day.

From these occasions the public is pretty well acquainted with the White House lawn. But the gardens, close to the house and bound by high hedges, are not open. They would scarcely survive the inspection of a few thousand people in an afternoon.

The gardens now are as Mrs. Wilson left them. Mrs. Wilson had time to put bird houses around the White House grounds and to plant a number of trees—only a short time ago she planted a magnolia. But she has ordered no important changes in the private gardens as yet.

Just now, the gardens are beginning to show signs of life. White narcissuses, pansies, and pale tinted flags are out, and a profusion of buds promises a wonderful array of color in a few weeks.

Originally, Mrs. Roosevelt planned the two plots as colonial gardens, and they were laid out with curving walks and variously shaped flower beds filled with roses and hardy perennials.

The first Mrs. Wilson is remembered as one of the most ardent flower lovers who ever lived in the White House. When she was consulted as to changes in the gardens she expressed a desire to have the two plots different in character. She had always taken a great interest in the grounds of her home, and she had skilled landscape gardeners work on the plans for the gardens as she wished them to be.

Mrs. Wilson did not live to see the remodeled gardens completed. However, up to a short time before her death she liked to sit among the flowers.

The gardens now are as Mrs. Wilson planned them. Both are long, rather narrow plots of ground, small only in comparison to the spaciousness of the White House lawns. The east garden is laid out with a wide border of flowers around the edge inside the tall hedge and a large plot of grass in the center, also bordered with flowers. A pool in the center of the grassy plot is the feature of this picturesque retreat. In the summer, goldfish swim in the pool and pink and white water lilies bloom on the surface of the water.

The walk between the center plot and the margin of flowers is cut in straight lines, with rather formal effect. Old stone benches and quaint chairs to match, that have stood around the grounds for years, are conveniently placed for quiet rest.

A number of gold balls are sometimes seen on these chairs and it is said that the President occasionally practices golf shots a bit in the privacy of the garden enclosure.

There are no shade trees in the east garden. The only trees are small evergreens artistically placed. The landscape architect who designed the plot for Mrs. Wilson planned to have tall Virginia cedars used, but the expense of obtaining them was too great and smaller trees were substituted without serious change in the desired effect.

The flowers of this garden are such delicately colored blooms as the Darwin tulip, a large, pink variety; white and pale purple iris; and later, peonies, larkspur, pinks, candytuft, forget-me-nots, sweet-william, and lavender. The color scheme is soft. No gay red or yellow blossoms are admitted to this pastel group of flowers.

The west garden is laid out along lines similar to those of the east plot. Here, however, roses are the only flowers featured. Spring bulbs are planted in the garden enclosure before the roses bloom. At present, there is a thickly blooming border of white peonies, eye narcissuses, but by the middle of May the bulbs will be gone and red, pink, and pale yellow roses will begin to bloom. A few of the varieties which adorn the White House rose garden are pink Killarney, pink radiants, yellow sunburst.

The attraction in this garden, aside from the roses, is an arch at the far end, framed by the privet of the hedge. English ivy on the lattice beneath this arch forms a soft background for a small statue. Here again, economy is noticeable in White House management. The plan called for a marble statue, but plaster of Paris had to be substituted to fit the fund available. The statue, a graceful flute boy, is now undergoing a spring renovation before it is set out for the garden season.

Between the garden hedge and the house runs a beautiful laid out walk that is really a continuation of the rose garden. Eight rose trees line the grass on either side of the walk and a privet arch forms the gateway at either end. This is called the President's Walk, because it is a short outdoor route from the Executive offices to the White House. In fine weather, it is commonly used by the President in preference to the corridors.

JUST FOLKS

ST. JOE, N. C. GUEST

TOIL.

The time to get the rake and hoe And plant the peas, row by row, To send your back above the spade, For that the man who is a maid.

The unattended ground will stay A dreary waste of yellow clay, Unless the heavy work is done.

God smiles upon the garden fair And paints it with his colors rare, But not one bloom shall grace the soil Which does not get the gardener's toil.

The wish for loveliness is not Enough to build a garden spot. The parsnips and the phlox are made By constant service with the spade.

In June the roses bloom and nod For him who bravely breaks the clod, But he who will not dig today Shall have no marrieds in May.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

"TO A FLAPPER."

She's the life of the party wherever she goes, With her odd little ways and her odd, odder clothes. She can't speak a sentence without using slang, She has curly bobbed hair and a cute little bang. Bright fuzzy stockings rolled down at the knees, And a hat at an angle of 90 degrees. She has curls to match every costume she wears, She can swear like a trooper and rattle the bones.

She dotes on golf shoes and weird mackintoshes, And she'd rather have a dead cat than a dog. She dances the scandal—the boys she can handle— But she hasn't a brain in her head.

They say Donald now has twelve wives scattered around the country. If he ever goes to jail probably he will enjoy his liberty.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

It is not all bad news that comes out of Europe. Dr. Conan Doyle, the celebrated investigator, brings us the tidings that there is no hell.

It is not going to be so difficult to get into the country as some of us have feared. A lot of us will go there who do not expect to. All of which comes under the general head of optimism. Optimism seems a bit out of place just now, but we must listen to it whether we want to or not.

But Dr. Doyle has raised a complicated situation. He says he knows there is no hell. He can prove it. Yet there is a revivalist who says we are going there.

Now if we do go, just to please the revivalist, and find that there isn't any such place, it is going to be a joke on somebody. We don't know whether the joke will be on Dr. Doyle, the revivalist or ourselves. The jury is still out.

"Back to the soil" is springtime dope That has a subtle charm. It filled our butcher full of hope, And he moved to a farm. One season was enough for him. To find the dope was "phony." And that the slogan best for him Is "Get back to bologna."

The saddest words of tongue or pen Don't half describe my feelings when I stretched myself to reach an "out" And got an "inshoot" on the snout. When I reached with little grace Old Emper's barn "Go, take your base."

Now that Conan Doyle is here he may as well set Sherlock to work taking the crime wave apart to see what makes it tick.

Who's Who Today

EARL FRENCH

Field Marshal Earl French, who commanded the British forces in France the opening years of the war, is preparing to visit the U. S. his first visit to this country in ten years.

Earl French's family had hopes in his younger days that he would enter the church. His pious training, however, failed to so influence him. He entered the king's navy and after graduation from the training ship Britannia became a midshipman. He tired of the sea in a few years and resigned from the service and joined the British Hussars.

He underwent fire the first time with Lord Wolseley in the Nile expedition in 1884, organized principally to rescue General Gordon from Khartoum.

He was the principal cavalry commander in the Boer war. At the request of Gen. Sir George White, French escaped from Ladysmith as the Boer laid siege to it by hiding under a railroad coach seat.

When the earl came to the U. S. ten years ago he was Gen. Sir John French and occupied the position of chief of the imperial general staff. Since that time this English hero has been raised to the rank of field marshal, and raised to a peerage, first as Viscount French of Ypres and then as earl.

After commanding the British forces the first two years of the World War French was made viceroy of Ireland, serving in that capacity two years.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

April 25, 1882—Archibald Galbraith arrived home today from Scotland with four fine Clydesdale horses. Thomas W. Keene played "Macbeth" to a packed house at Myers last night. This is the third time he has been heard in the city, the other times being a year ago when he played "Richard Third" and "Hamlet." He will give "Richard the Third" at Belmont tonight.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 25, 1892—Women are canvassing the city for contributions to keep the hospital going. The business section will be canvassed next week and the results obtained there will determine the future of the hospital. "Noble," a great theatrical success now playing in Chicago, will be seen here next Wednesday night.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

April 25, 1902—The new organ for the Congregational church, purchased in January by W. S. Jeffris for his father, David Jeffris, has arrived and will be installed at once. It consists of 3,800 pipes in the main organ, and 350 in the echo organ, to be placed in the rear of the church. The old organ has been shipped to Lake Mills.

TEN YEARS AGO

April 25, 1912—It is announced that Janesville may be made the dispatching center for the three lines of the St. Paul railroad. The local series of Eagles will meet tonight to make plans for the state convention here in June.

LIFE AND GOOD DAYS

He that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile.—1 Peter 3:10.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

THE OLD, SAD STORY.

My husband, writes a reader, is 36 years old, weighs 147 pounds and is six feet tall. He has a slight "spoon" in the arch of his back, but about the size of two fingers. He is an office worker, hours from 7:30 a. m. to 7 p. m. Nervous temperament but has very good self control. We plan to go to a summer resort in Wisconsin in June.

Dr. Brady, I was only discovered the "spoon" about a month ago. I would like to know if a man in his condition would gain weight or lose it by going on a "diet" or "fast" or "cure." We have heard that he had in the city. We will have about $2,000 capital by that time. (Mrs. H. C. D.)

The question is clear. I thought our correspondent would know. I am a husband and a father. I am a post office for a season or a year, the proper mode of life, the man deserves it. For tuberculosis has been on my mind, and I am sure it is not a disease which treatment is indicated.

If this man had a sick child, and the doctor lived six miles away and the man had no money, what doctors would be summoned? And would he postpone that duty and try a few experiments of his own in the way of treatment?

It is clear that he has no tuberculosis. It would be unwise for him to attempt to "break into" farm life as a means of living.

His wife carefully avoids such subjects as tuberculosis, cancer, and other diseases of the body. The patients and their immediate relatives are reluctant to admit that they are suffering from any disease or that they need any assurance or suggestion which may be offered, no matter by what incompetent intruder, that the trouble isn't what they know it is. They are afraid it is not amenable to radiation, surgery, or X-ray treatment, this is of no consequence. With tuberculosis it is often a matter of life and death, for the most part, the patient himself is the cause of his own suffering and regarding his own cure, or

Dr. Brady will answer all questions of the most disheartening nature. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosing the address Dr. Wm. Brady, Gazette.

Question—Is there any way you can advise for one to get thin lines? (W. D.)

Answer—If the lips are thick from some cause, the person has a condition from congestion in the vascular system. The appearance may be improved by a course of treatment with a medical treatment. Lips which are thick naturally can be made thin only by a plastic operation by a good surgeon.

Roller Skating for Girls.

Question—Will it hurt a girl aged ten years to roller skate for having been operated on for groin hernia last August? Will it affect her body, for she has been pestered to death? (M. G.)

Answer—No, indeed, roller skating is generally beneficial for children. The abdominal muscles after operations and it rather tends to prevent hernia (rupture, brock).

Question—Is there any danger in smoking a pipe that has been used in 171 and this keeps it sweet? (G. H. G.)

Answer—The danger, if any, is from the tobacco, not from the copper.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions of the most disheartening nature. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosing the address Dr. Wm. Brady, Gazette.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline but do not compel.

TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1922

Neptune dominates the planetary government of this day, according to astrology, while Uranus is in ascendant.

The rule should be stimulating to the inner energies of life and should assure clear vision on important national issues.

It is a favorable way for diplomacy or for decisions on matters of public policy.

The president of the United States should benefit from this direction of the stars, but the seers foretell for him many serious international problems.

Again a serious mistake on the part of an American ambassador or minister is foreshadowed.

Changes in the cabinet will mark this, second year of President Harding's administration.

There is a sign that seems to herald an awakening to the spiritual side of life and a revival of interest in religion.

The seers declare that the world has reached the peak of its after-the-war return to materialism and that widespread reforms will be brought about.

England is to have many difficulties with colonial affairs and at least one of these will affect the United States.

Peace agitation is to be insistent in all parts of the world. It is predicted, and women will take part in a campaign of extraordinary vehemence.

Occultists repeat their former prophecies to the effect that California will attract many persons who are adepts or teachers and that it will become the center of psychic revelation.

600 METERS TO BE PLACED BY JULY 1

Some 600 meters must be installed by the water department within the next two months to carry out the bond of public works' order requiring every service in the city to be metered by July 1, 1922. Property owners who have not yet installed meters are urged by Supt. H. A. Griffin to place them early. A charge of $15 is made for each meter, payable in advance.

The Blessing of Gas Service

Have you ever considered how our modern life would be affected if gas service were suspended? Where would be the well-cooked meals, the ever-ready hot water, the healthful illumination, the comfortably heated rooms, and the various industrial operations made possible by gas? In fact, there would be untold suffering without gas service.

Of course, we mean the woman who does the cooking. But next to her, a white enameled Gas Range can well be considered the Queen of the Kitchen furnishings.

At the Villa Rose

BY A. E. W. MASON

SYNOPSIS TO DATE.

A Mr. Ricardo, rich, retired, at the Villa Rose, in the season, sees a lovely young girl, Camille Dauvray, come from the garden and sit herself on a bench overlooking the river. She turns to the rocks, and he observes her watching. He is a young man, who is playing high. She slips him a five-dollar note, and he smiles and tells her they are to be married. She signs to love and loves steadily; then he stops, and the girl goes into the garden. He is a young man, who is playing high. She slips him a five-dollar note, and he smiles and tells her they are to be married. She signs to love and loves steadily; then he stops, and the girl goes into the garden.

A short paragraph was printed in large black letters on the first page, and leaped to the eyes.

"At last, night," he said, "an appalling murder was committed at the Villa Rose, on the road to Lac Bourget. Mme. Camille Dauvray, an elderly, rich woman, who was well known at Aix, and had occupied the villa every summer for the last few years, was discovered on the floor of her salon, fully dressed and brutally strangled, while upstairs her maid, Ripen Vanuier, was found in bed, choked to death with her hands tied behind her back.

"At the time of going to press, she had not recovered consciousness, but the doctor, Emile Peytin, is in attendance upon her, and it is hoped that she will be able shortly to throw some light on the dastardly affair. The police are properly reticent, as to the details of the crime, but the following statement may be accepted without hesitation.

"The murder was discovered at 12 o'clock at night by the sergeant de ville Parichet, to whose intelligence more than a word of praise is due, and it is obvious from the absence of all marks upon the door and windows that the murderer was admitted from within the villa.

"Meanwhile Mme. Dauvray's motor car has disappeared, and with it a young Englishwoman who came to Aix with her as her companion. The motive of the crime leaps to the eyes. Mme. Dauvray was famous in Aix for her jewels, which she wore with too little prudence.

"The condition of the house shows that a careful search was made for them, and they have disappeared. It is anticipated that a description of the young Englishwoman, with a reward for her apprehension, will be issued immediately. And it is not too much to hope that the citizens of Aix, and indeed of France, will be cleared of all participation in so cruel and sinister a crime."

Ricardo read through the paragraph with a growing consternation and laid the paper upon his dressing table.

"Is infamous!" cried Wethermill passionately.

"The young Englishman is," said Ricardo slowly.

Wethermill started forward.

"You know her, then?" he cried in amazement.

"No, but I saw her with you in the rooms, I saw you call her by that name."

"You said you together!" exclaimed Wethermill. "Then you can understand how infamous the suggestion is."

But Ricardo had seen the girl half an hour before he had seen her with Harry Wethermill. He could not but vividly remember the picture of her as she flung herself on the bench in the garden in a moment of hysteria and petulantly kicked a satin slipper backward and forward against the stones.

"What do you want me to do?" she was young, she was pretty, she had a charm of freshness, but—strive against it as he would this picture in the recollection began more and more to take the form of a stranger. "She is pretty, that is all."

"She is a snake," said Ricardo, "a snake that will bite you."

little one. It is regrettable that she has lost."

Mr. Ricardo arranged his tie with even a greater deliberation than he usually employed.

"And Mme. Dauvray?" he asked. "She was the stout woman with whom your young friend went away."

"Yes," said Wethermill.

Ricardo turned round from the mirror.

"Hanaud is at Aix. He is the elevator of the Villa Rose. You know him? He dined with you once."

"It was Mr. Ricardo's practice to collect celebrities round his dinner table, and at one such gathering Hanaud and Wethermill had been present together."

"You wish me to approach him?"

"At once."

"It is a delicate position," said Ricardo. "He is a man in charge of a case of murder, and we are quickly to go to him."

To his relief Wethermill interrupted him.

"No, no," he cried, "he is in his hotel. I read of his arrival two days ago in the newspaper. It was stated that he came for rest. What I want is that he should take charge of the case."

The superb confidence of Wethermill shook Mr. Ricardo for a moment, but his recollections were too clear.

"You are going out of your way to launch the accusation of French detectives in search of this girl. Are you wise, Wethermill?"

(To be Continued.)

"Come, hurry up! What do you want?"

"No rush; no rush," said the customer, relating good nature and good nature. "Don't know what I want. Want some pen, don't know what."

"What's the name over some of the things you want?"

"Well," said the clerk, "we have tooth paste and mustard plasters and hair brushes and razor blades and soap and pills and—"

"Hold on! Don't want some of those things. That ain't right. Shave, wash, and—"

"Oh, there's Lake Superior, and Michigan, and Erie."

"Frier, Thash th' feller! Who was th' frier said 'Don't give up th' ship'?"

"Perry!"

"Thash th' feller! Gimme five cents worth o' perrygolic."

"I want to vote," said the motherly looking woman. "Are you a qualified voter?"

"Yes, madam. Are you the election official?"

"I ought to be. I've raised seven children, wrestled with a cook stove for 24 years and supported a worthless husband."

"Madam, in my estimation you are entitled to vote twice."

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

C. H. G.—The constant wearing of low shoes will not change the shape of the feet, but will be a source of trouble to you. Try lemon juice and salt on the feet.

V. S.—Liquid powders are very drying to the skin which prevents most women from using them. Ask your doctor whether or not it is proper for you to take a cold bath over day throughout the month.

Reader—Hot baths will reduce the weight, but the body usually makes it up again.

Miss B.—I shall be glad to mail you a formula for removing freckles. If you send me a stamped address envelope.

Curley Hair.—Most girls at 15 years of age should continue to wear the hair in some simple, though becoming style. A girl of 14 years, height 5 feet one, should weigh about 100 pounds.

Thirty Two.—The ridges that appear on some finger nails are due to a lack of oil. They will improve if you massage them each night with either cream or a nourishing oil. The ridges should be kept smoothed off by daily use of a pumice stone, taking care not to file the nails down until they are too thin, as that will cause them to crack.

L. C.—When peroxide is used as a bleach for freckles, it should not be diluted. Follow the treatment by application of cold cream. Peroxide, used this way, will neutralize the natural secretions, leaving the skin too dry.

B. L.—If your body is rigid and stiff while you dance, it is because you tense all of your muscles. The way to overcome this is to relax. Get into the rhythm and let the music.

"PAPER DOLL" GAME
Here is a suggestion for amusing

children on rainy days and hope it will help some mother who has run out of ideas for the amusement of her "little bugaboo."

How to Play "Paper Dolls."
1—Save the last years catalogues (the large mail order house catalogues are best), an "out of house" household furniture for several months and then cut out the pictures of the people. These may be colored with crayons or water colors.

2—Place all the men, women, children and the furniture each in separate piles, so as not to get them mixed up.

Sort out the men and women and choose some and then pretend to have a wedding.

4—Take toy blocks or dominoes and build a house, making only the outline of the rooms, and dividing off each room as in your house or some house you have been in.

5—Sort out all the furniture and put all the porch, office, kitchen, dining room, sitting room, bathroom and bedroom furniture each in different piles and pretend you have a furniture store. Cut out pictures of rugs, flowers, dishes, lamps, stand spreads, etc., and also keep in the store.

6—Have the man and wife go to the store and "buy" the furniture they wish for their house.

7—Take a magazine or the cover of a small box and have it for an automobile.

8—When they get the furniture home they can hire a lady to help do some of the "work."

9—Next place all the paper children with a few ladies in a corner or nook and call it the Children's Home. These are the matrons.

10—Have the man and woman go to the Children's Home and choose several children; then, when they "grow up," have more weddings and more children.

11—When the children who play this game get several families made, they can start a school and have lots of fun.

To Make Furniture Stand up
Take a small slip of stiff paper and paste one end on the back of the furniture and bend the loose end out slightly so the article will stand.

A god way to make a stand for a table of the blocks and the way to make the lamp stand on it. Take two blocks of dominoes and stand on the long edge and place two more dominoes over the top of the others to support them. Cut out a colored stand spread of paper and cut a slit in the center just large enough for the base of the lamp to slip through, then slip it between the two "dominoes" and cover the standing ones. This works well.

News for Farmers
Research Made Wisconsin
Leader in Pea Canning

Wisconsin is the banner pea canning state in the Union. One-half of all the peas canned in the United States are picked in Wisconsin.

The industry was started, in a small way, more than thirty years ago by Albert Landreth at Manitowish. He was the first to use the machine which opens the pods with removing them from the vine, was in operation so that hand picking was unnecessary.

Success has followed the industry from its start but not without some ups and downs. Farmers and business men from adjoining counties were greatly attracted by the reports coming from Manitowish. Sturgeon Bay, Green Bay and started agitating for factories at Columbus, Randolph, and many other places. The pioneers along the lake shore discouraged them with stories about the necessity of proximity to the lakeshore to make conditions suitable for development. However, men like the Hutchinson brothers of Randolph and Leitch of Columbus were not turned back, and today the area in the vicinity of Dodge county supports enough canning plants to put up half the pack of Wisconsin. Nearly every railroad station has one or more canning factories.

The location of factories is decided by the availability of the soil for pea growing, the availability of labor for the factory during the rush season of canning, and the presence in the organization of far-sighted business men to carry the responsibilities of a hazardous operation.

The early canners lost heavily from some unknown cause of swelling and bursting of the cans. The leading cause of this trouble, it is now known, was the presence of gas forming bacteria. These were able to live through the heating process then used, and the temperature was not high enough to kill the spores of the "gas bugs" was determined and found to be within reach of the practical canner so that Russell's conclusions at now the every day practice.

Pea blight, a term given to crop losses from various causes, became troublesome to most canning companies after they had been established a few years. The practice had been to grow peas after heavy winter rotation and the soil became filled with fungus spores which were found by R. E. Vaughan of the agricultural experiment station to be the cause of the trouble. There is no cure for this disease, but once a field becomes sick, it should not be seeded to peas for a number of years.

Insects have from time to time played havoc with the profits in pea canning. First the pea weevil tried to destroy the seed; then the lice came to devour the leaves; and the pea moth to work on the pods. The entomologists have aided in the solution of these problems. The weevil can be killed by fumigating the seed with carbon-bisulphide; the lice prefer clover which protects the peas if it is left standing longer than usual; the pea moth can be kept off by early maturing varieties.

Now it is a question of marketing that holds the center of the state. It is easy to grow and can the peas but what is to be done with them? Theodore Macklin of the staff of the college of agriculture has shown the path taken by the can of peas from the producer to the consumer. At each step he checked up the usual route is farmer to factory; to railroad, to broker, to wholesaler, to retailer, to consumer and the latter pays.

In any question which may arise in the future as to the past, the University of Wisconsin through its experiment station will be found standing ready to do all in its power to find the solution. Co-operation will continue to be the keynote of success among canners.

Few There Are Who Escaped Influenza, Pneumonia, or Heavy Cold, During Past Winter—All Tired to Weaken and Wear Down the System.

Trutona Quickly Rebuilds, Broken-Down Tissues, Quiets Nerves, Purifies Blood and Restores Strength and Vitality.

Thousands of people—hundreds of them right here in Janesville—suffer from nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, a tired, lifeless feeling, headaches, back and side pains and aches at this season of the year—all the result of a system weakened and run down by an attack of pneumonia, influenza, cough, cold or some other winter ailment. If you suffer from any of these, if you suffer similarly, you need Trutona; the famous tonic, which will restore your health, strengthen and vitalize just as it did for this well-known Janesville man—J. W. Reed, 315 Wall street, who says:

"I was simply down and out—felt so sluggish and tired some days I was a torture for me to keep going, my food didn't taste right and I suffered from constipation constantly. Then I decided to try Trutona. This great medicine built me up right from the start. It relieved my constipation, improved my appetite and eventually drove away my former distressing tired, sluggish feeling. Today I feel just fine and I have Trutona to thank for it all."

Trutona, because of its remarkable action on the mucous membranes, thoroughly cleanses and builds up the entire system. The patient soon notes a return of the oldtime appetite, the color returns to their cheeks, new strength and vitality is felt, the blood purified and that former tired, lifeless, anemic feeling vanishes. Trutona will build up and cleanse YOUR system just as it is doing for hundreds of other Janesville residents. This famous tonic is sold and highly recommended in Janesville at the PEOPLE'S Drug Store; Edgerton, Atwell Dullman's; Evansville, Pioneer Drug Store; Milton, Stewart's; and all good druggists in surrounding towns.—Advertisement.

Propose Federal Aid for Northern Settler

Plans for obtaining direct federal aid for settlers in Wisconsin were discussed at a joint meeting of the executive committee of the Tri-State Development congress and directors of the Wisconsin Outover Land Reclamation association in Milwaukee.

One member of the congress from each state has been appointed to meet with the directors of the Wisconsin association to act in an advisory capacity. More than 20,000 settlers in Wisconsin will be benefited by the proposed federal aid system, it was stated.

Among those who attended the meeting were: C. P. Norford, Madison; John Doelle, Lansing, Mich.; H. E. Ray, St. Paul, Minn.; J. H. Russell, Madison; B. G. Parker, Madison; A. H. Wilkerson, Milwaukee; Ezra Levin, Lansing, Mich.; G. B. Anderson, Owen, Wis.; A. D. Campbell, Wausau; B. O. Wipperfurth, Wausau; and George Gilling, Wausau.

Free Seeds Dropped from Appropriations

The net result of the Senate Appropriation Committee's hearings on the agricultural appropriation bill which was reported to the Senate last Tuesday, is an increase of $548,000 above the amount provided by the House.

The item for free seeds for distribution by Congressmen, amounting to $350,000 was stricken out. The Senate Committee after hearing arguments by representatives of the five states, and after interests increased the amount carried for the payment of indemnities of cattle tested and found to have tuberculosis by $300,000, all of which will be made immediately available upon the passage of the bill because it states have exhausted their Federal allotments.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville.—C. H. Telefsrud, Bode, Ill., who was a resident of this county by fact for many more than forty years ago, is visiting with friends here. He is on his way to Norway, where he will spend several months. L. L. Skedock, Bode, charged with shooting John Slack, several weeks ago, was made at Beloit Monday when Judge Clark postponed it indefinitely pending further investigation. A possibility that the serious charge against Pappas may be dropped, as the shooting was an accident, was expressed by Beloit court officials Monday. Pappas, however, would have to be made for Slack family, which has been cared for all winter by the county.

H. C. Taylor and family, River road, were here Saturday.—The ladies of the congregation of the Lutheran church gave a shower at the church parlors Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Gilbert Gilbertson, whose home was destroyed with all its contents by fire a few weeks ago. Mrs. Gilbertson was remembered very generously.—George Carr, manager of the local Borden plant, with headquarters at Monroe, was in the village for short time on Saturday afternoon.

State will be considered just as in- timately related as if they were bound by an alliance. Indeed the morning of the treaty which is under consideration is one of friendship between the peoples first of all executed, of course, by their respective governments.

Administrations change in the United States as they do in Mexico. Recognition by a new regime is not a matter of course. Recognition is at best a temporary thing dependent upon the development of good or bad relations and the accumulation of disputes. What the United States is asking Mexico to sign is a reciprocal treaty of friendship which will cover all the fundamentals in controversy today and make an enduring settlement—a treaty which nobody on either side of the Rio Grande can afford to disregard.

Uncertain Relations

The bureau of military intervention as well as political meddling on the part of Americans in Mexico has kept relations between the two countries uneasy. It is sought to remove once and for all these factors from the picture. The administration will be sure of equitable treatment at Washington.

There are of course many people in the United States who feel that Presi-

"You children
must finish
your dinner!"

Do you, like so many modern mothers, constantly have to stand over your children and literally MAKE them eat?

One of the first and most marked effects of Yeast Foam Tablets is to increase the appetite.

"If a growing child has no desire to eat, there is something serious the matter with him," says a noted specialist in the care and feeding of children. "A frequent and increasing cause of this failing or finicky appetite is lack of B vitamin."

This vitamin is found in greatest abundance in yeast; and Yeast Foam Tablets are made entirely of pure, whole concentrated yeast.

Give your child Yeast Foam Tablets. Watch him improve. Note how his appetite returns; how he will grow, put on normal weight and increase his strength and endurance!

Why many foods are deficient

Many raw foods which originally contained this element through "preparing processes" such as milling of wheat and other grains; refining of sugar; heating foods to high temperatures; discarding of water in which food is boiled, etc. The vitamin B thus lost can be quickly replaced by the addition to the diet of Yeast Foam Tablets.

Build up your child

If your child seems thin, under weight, delicate, irritable and always tired out, give him Yeast Foam Tablets. They are a simple, pleasant and notably efficient corrective—a food, not a medicine.

INDIA IS ARMED CAMP SAYS PARKER

Country on Verge of Bloodshed Is Opinion of Jamesville Manufacturer.

India is on the verge of a great deal of bloodshed, in the opinion of George S. Parker, writing from Spence's hotel, Calcutta, under date of March 10.

While the English seem to have matters well in hand, all India resembles an armed camp and he asks the question: "What could less than 100,000 Europeans do against 300,000,000 if the latter were united?"

The Jamesville pen manufacturer, his wife and daughter, have about 15,000 miles more to travel on their world tour.

In his most recent letter, Mr. Parker tells of the cruise from Venice, Italy, to Bombay, India, through the Suez canal and the Red Sea. In beautiful Venice, the Parkers visited a theater more than 500 years old. They also visited Milan while in Italy.

"The German people are busy and drinking lots of beer," the Swiss are complaining about hard times, says Mr. Parker. Their trip from Italy to India was made on an old Austrian steamship now owned by Italy, and lasted from Feb. 2 to Feb. 15.

German Beer Cheap

"Since my last letter we have visited France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy," Mr. Parker writes. "We arrived in India Feb. 15."

"Strange to say, the Swiss people were complaining about hard times more than any other place I visited in Europe. Their money like the dollar is too high and cannot compete with the low franc and mark of other countries, hence business was pretty poor there."

"In Germany everybody was busy and happy apparently. So far as I could see they were just as fond of beer as before the war and drank as much of it. The price of a glass or bottle of beer, reduced to U. S. money, is so low as to make the drinking of beer seem common and out of place, and it is in Germany."

Venice A Dream City

"We spent our last few days in Europe, in Italy—in Milan with our distributor, and then on to Venice. This latter city is a dream. No wonder the old Doges and Kings cut each other's throats to be boss of the town. The streets that are the principal thoroughfares are water. There are no street-cars, autos, pigs, chickens, horses or cows in Venice, at least none was in evidence and so, taking the natives' word for it, I pass it on."

"We attended a theater there over night, the guests of a friend. It was one of the most beautiful interiors I have ever seen. I counted over 150 boxes. They extend clear around from one side of the stage to the other and the only break is the stage itself. The theater was built over 500 years ago and is still going."

"They had a light opera troupe and the chorus was not above par. It had been advertised as very fine, so our friend said, and the house was disappointed and did not hesitate to let it be known either, as they hissed the chorus."

Off to Bombay

"We sailed Feb. 2 from Venice for Bombay and stopped at Brendesa which some writer has described as the noisiest and worst smelling place in Europe. I guess he was right. Still on account of its war record it was interesting."

"We sailed on the Italian S. S. Trevore, a fine vessel formerly owned by Austrian being on the losing side of the war handed over her vessels to the victors and Italy drew some good ones. Trevore was formerly the La Conze."

"The captain chose his table and we were among the ones asked to sit at the captain's table so we had all that was going."

At the Suez Canal

"Our next stop was at the Suez canal. This was certainly most interesting. I hustled out after some business, got it and then went sight-seeing. Suez's existence is accounted for only by the canal. The ships all stop and I guess the sailors get shore leave so you can guess what sort of a town it is."

"No sidewalks, yet the town looks prosperous and is. Lots of American articles are seen in the windows and as soon as my dealer gets his Parker pens and pencils there will be another added to the list."

"I do not know when I have seen a more mixed population. Plenty of English soldiers are in evidence. I was just a little disappointed in the canal. It is so flat around it that it looks the spectacular features of the Panama."

"The boat proceeded on its own power and at a rate of 10 miles per hour. The canal is wide enough, at least in places, so two boats can pass."

"On either side as far as the eye can reach it looks like waste land from which the sea has receded."

Sea Old War Camp

"About midway we came upon the remains of the great English war camp where the Turks tried to break over and get possession of the canal and consequently, Egypt. The poor Turks failed miserably and left the English in undisputed possession after sharp fighting."

"On the opposite bank of the canal it was pointed out that here was where the Australian cavalry, some hundred thousand, strong was camped."

"The day was passed through the canal. There was some minor outbreak at Calro, only a short distance away. We saw flock after flock of airplanes following along the canal, patrolling it, so we were told. Your Uncle Johnny Bull is right on the job every minute."

"We got through all right and did not stop again until we arrived at Aden, Arabia."

Down the Red Sea

"The trip down the Red Sea would to the Rev. Melrose or Dean Ryan be more interesting than to me on account of the biblical history connected with it."

"What old King Solomon wanted of the site where Aden is now located beats me. Still they say he was there and constructed what they call King Solomon's walls which stand today in a wonderful state of preservation. They are, however, a series of big tanks, cement of some sort, to catch the water when it rains. It has not the tanks are quite empty. Water rained there for over two years so is much in demand there."

"There is an English fort, lots of soldiers, a camel brigade. I did not suppose there were so many camels in the world as we saw at Aden. I was not we were glad to get away."

Warfare Looms In India

"Our next stop was to be Bombay. So many interesting things have happened since we landed in February and where we now are and probably will be for a week, will have to tell in another letter. Will say, however, I am pretty fairly glad to get through without trouble."

"India today, in my opinion, is on the verge of spilling a good deal of blood. It's like an armed camp and yet the English seem to have the matter well in hand. But what could less than 100,000 Europeans do against 300,000,000 if the matter were united."

"I am doing some sight-seeing, some business and having a very interesting time, but just the same I will be exceedingly glad to get home. We have, according to our schedule, some 15,000 miles yet to travel."

This week they are: Wilbur Glover, Esther Wendell, Earl Johnson, Marion Kinney and Esther Lake. They are regulated to keep up their studies, and they receive ratings on adaptability, diligence, courtesy, etc. by the men for whom they work.

Local High Postpones Conference Action Indefinitely

60 OTHER SCHOOLS FULLY APPROVE; WILL MEET SOON

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

While other schools are getting ready to take further steps in the formation of a high school athletic conference in this section of the state, Janesville High decided on Monday to shift the decision to the new regime which will go into effect next fall. This decision is due to the fact that the new principal and an entirely new coaching staff will be at the reins at the local institution after the present school year is over.

Tells of New Coach.

In a letter Tuesday to Coach Crandall of Milton college, originator of the plan to unite the "prep" schools in this territory more closely for boosting athletics, Principal George Bradford of Janesville states that although favoring the entrance of Janesville High school into such an organization, he does not wish to bind the new coach. Coach Crandall is for the first time that a new coaching staff will be at the helm of "Blue" sports activities.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the conference plan will meet with favor," stated Mr. Bradford. He declared he feels the coaches should be given opportunity to pass upon the plan.

Six Schools Approve.

While this will mean that Janesville will have no voice in further steps to be taken in the formation of the circuit, Coach Crandall is not discouraged. In a conversation over the telephone with him Monday, he declared he is going to take the next step in getting the loop under way.

So far we have had the questionnaires returned by all but three schools," he stated. "Those schools are Janesville, Port Atkinson and Dodgeville. Coach Crandall said that he would be returning the questionnaire as soon as possible."

The schools who have come out to the fore in the effort will not be Janesville, Milton, Union, Jefferson, Lake Mills, Whitewater city and Stoughton. These institutions favor the alphabetical method of choosing a champion which would give that honor to Dodgeville.

May Meet Saturday.

"I believe the next step will be to call a meeting of representatives of the schools," Coach Crandall said. "I shall try to get one for next Saturday night at Milton. We must get started as soon as possible in order to get any benefits from the circuit."

Williams Equals Ruth's Record

New York.—Kenneth Williams, slugging left fielder of the St. Louis Browns, carved himself a niche in Babe Ruth's hit record exclusively on Monday when he clouted out his fifth home run in three days and tied the record made by the Babe last year. Williams hit three homers Saturday and one on Sunday and Monday. The wallop, with another round tripper by Jacobson, added the Browns in downing Detroit and maintaining a tie with Cleveland for second place.

Boxer Dead After Bout

New York.—Low Brody, a lightweight pugilist, died in a Brooklyn hospital early Tuesday after a knockout by a local fighter. Brody was cut out at the hands of Frankie Pitcher, another boxer whom he met in the ring Monday night. Physicians declared the cause of Brody's death was cerebral hemorrhage. Officials of the district attorney's office began investigation of the case.

ELKHORN TO BACK STRONG BALL CLUB; FIRST GAME SUNDAY

Elkhorn.—Elkhorn will be on the baseball map this season. The opening game will be played next Sunday when the Elks of Elkhorn will blossom out in new suits and the material indicates the strongest team the city has had in years. There is to be a benefit dance in Columbus hall Wednesday.

The southeastern Wisconsin high school athletic conference was the pioneer in this movement in the state, the Fox River valley and the Wisconsin river leagues taking up the idea later. Schools in this section should get up a little "pop" and put this thing across. Cut out the delay. Either say "yes" or "no" and then—GO!

Bill Tilden II says many tennis champions got their start in college. Let us go probing a little deeper and we shall find many college players who later became title winners who got their start in the home town, many of these home towns being small places in point of population. He it ever so humble, and a court may be the training ground for future "greats."

Baseball prospects for southern Wisconsin this season look excellent. Many aggregations are out on the diamond; many localities are entering the lists. The best feature of all is that in the majority of instances the preponderance of clubs will be of an amateur status. In this respect, the Gazette is particularly desirous of printing the news of every ball club, telling of coming games in advance and chronicling them after they are played. Send your dope to the sports desk.

In Texas the fans don't care much about the game. They want to see the team win and what they seem to be getting is action and plenty of it. Does and not names is the rule. In the Lone Star state send in out claims for other states to follow.

Pearl River, N. Y., has a high school basketball team that has won championships for three years. They have captured 63 of 68 games in that time and have played the strongest teams available. But the real news about the team is that a young woman, Miss Marjorie Clark, is the coach.

Walter J. Travis, the only American to win the living tournament championship, prizes golf as having prolonged his life. He took up the game when he was 33 in order to get his health back. And now look at him!

Five civilians will enter balloon race at Milwaukee.

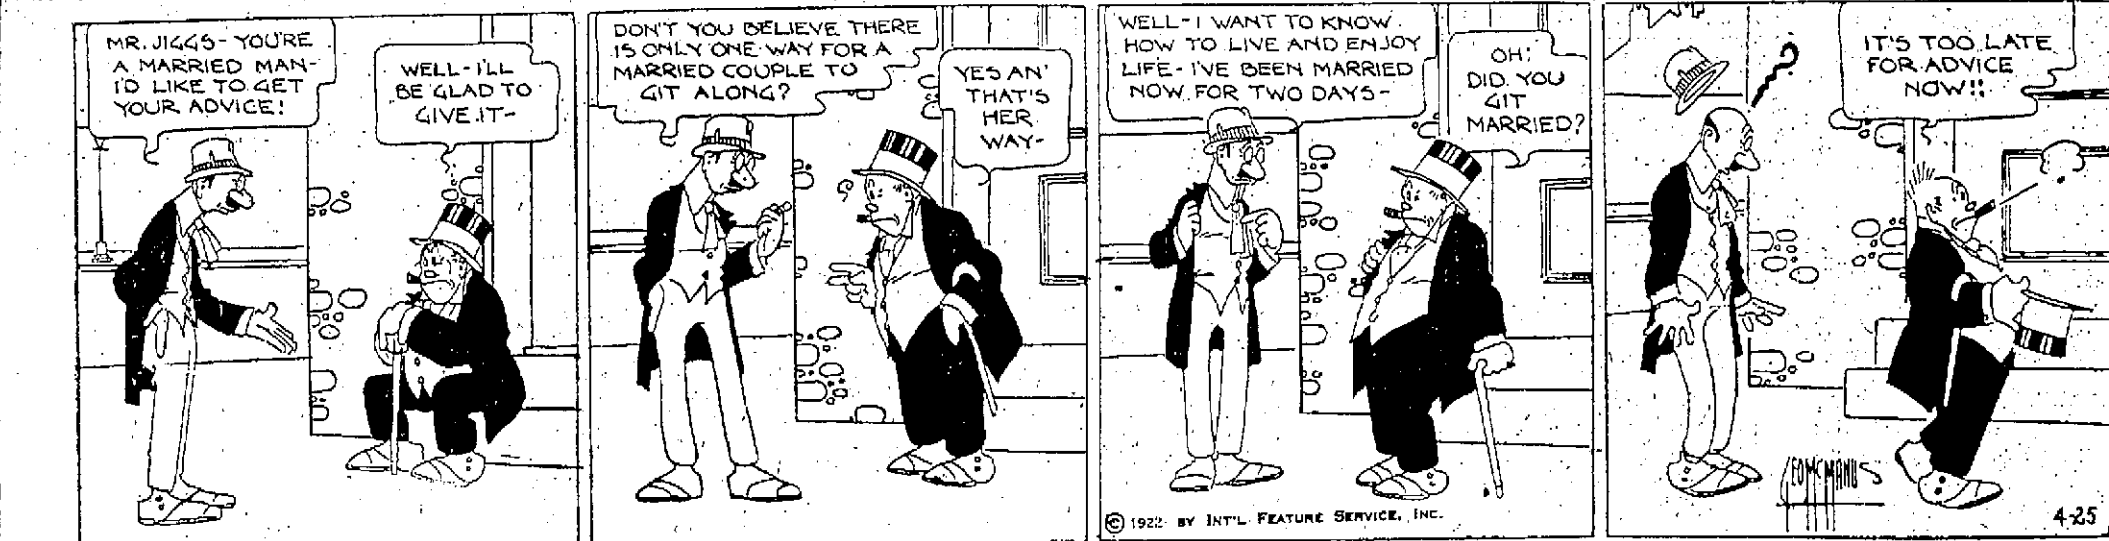

Diamond Sparkles.—The Canfield Millers have scored in each of their last 10 games. Pitcher Aldridge with a triple won his own games for the Cubs over Pittsburgh, 4-2. Faber gave 14 hits and the Indians trimmed the White Sox in the tenth, 8-5. Jess Petty, a former Brewer, led Indianapolis to a 5-1 win over Milwaukee. It took 11 innings for the Yanks to beat their sixth win, defeating Philadelphia, 6-4. Causey, who spent the winter in Janesville, was hit hard but the Giants won, 7-3, from Philadelphia. Shivers of Milwaukee now with the Giants, was hit by a pitched ball.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Fishing Widows Depart; Girls Taking to Sport

Get out your old Spruce Bennett and your dusty fly rod. Fishing time is here! Not that speckled trout are rising, but think of the work to be done before you cast your first fly of the season.

The days when only men had the fun of spring tackle cleaning are over. No more stolen glimpses into their fly books or anxious longings just to touch their precious rods. These days girls own rods and reels and keep in trim their own tackle. Perhaps they are a bit new at the game and can still learn some interesting facts from George La Branche's book, but "fishing widows" have passed with "golf widows."

It's Great Fun.

If you have not tried the game, you cannot imagine the sport of fly-fishing. None of this painful suspense the event is that a young woman, Miss Marjorie Clark, is the coach.

Seniors, Frosh Win Opening H.S. Ball Games

Interclass baseball opened at Janesville High school Monday. When the noise had died down the results of the first day's play were: Seniors, 8; Sophomores, 5; Freshmen, 8; Juniors, 7.

Tuesday, the Juniors and Sophomores battled. All games are played at the Fourth ward park at 4 p. m.

The feature of the games Monday was a homer by pitcher Schiefelbein of the frosh with one on. Dodge opened the game on the mound but was relieved by Dawson. Schiefelbein showed pep in the fifth by running from the pitcher's box to first to touch out Clarke.

The seniors had it comparatively easy with the Sophs. With John Bokstein in good form, the Sophs won the game. A tumble by J. Casey in the fourth, gave the Sophs three runs.

DEVELOP RADIO RECEIVING SET WITHOUT BATTERY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington—Elimination of the storage battery, the most expensive part of the home made radio receiving set, is now possible, according to bureau of standards of the department of commerce.

The receiving sets which are now used in receiving radio signals over distances of perhaps hundreds of miles require a storage battery to light the filaments of the electron tubes.

The receiving set developed by the bureau of standards makes connection with the ordinary electric lamp socket.

The set may be used with any type of antenna and special modes of connection. It is even possible to use the electric wires themselves as an antenna.

The receiving sets consist essentially of an amplifier with minor auxiliary parts. It is described in a paper which has been prepared and will be published by the bureau of standards about May 1.

The amplifier, according to a description issued by the bureau of standards, will utilize the 60 cycle current supply for both filaments and plates of the electron tube, thus eliminating much of the interference met in an ordinary amplifier circuit.

Madison, Wis.—The Rev. Edward S. Worcester, pastor of the First Congregational church here during the past four years, resigned Monday, effective June 1. He said, that failure of the church to enlarge his staff caused too heavy a burden for one man.

Paul Claire will enter the state track meet.

PATROL AVERAGES

11 MILES PER DAY;
10,000 MARK HIT

Janesville's police patrol ambulance has just completed a mileage of 10,000, according to the speedometer which has registered its travels since it was put in service Nov. 13, 1920.

This constitutes a monthly average of about 333 miles, or 11 miles a day, that the big Cadillac has traveled.

The machine saw extensive service as both ambulance and patrol during its first year on duty, but a great dropping off in the number of ambulance calls has been noted the past year and a half. This is due partly to the semi-shutdown of some industries, which has reduced the number of accidents, and also to the new plan of charging for the removal of ordinary hospital cases where the patient could just as well ride in a taxicab or other car. In accident cases, or where it is absolutely necessary for the patient's safety to have the ambulance, no charge is made.

HOSIERY COMPANY LOSES DECISION IN U. S. SUPREME COURT

Washington.—Manufacturers are required to use trade names and labels which will convey to the purchasing public an accurate description of the materials or ingredients composing their products, the supreme court Monday decided in a case brought by the federal trade commission against the Winsted Hosiery company.

Justice Brandeis, in delivering the opinion of the court, upheld the authority of the trade commission to issue an order to the company to desist from certain practices, typical of the trade, particularly its label "merino," as used in connection with knit goods, on the ground that they constituted unfair competition.
